THE ONLY COMPLETE SERIES OF ENGLISH REPORTS
PUBLISHED.

THE unprecedented patronage this series of Reports has received
I has now established it upon a permanent basis. It will be regulistly continued on the same terms as heretofore, and will contain all the reported cases in all the English courts, unabridged and uncondensed. Bubacriners may rely on having an exact reprint of every English case, and ready for delivery here a few weeks after its publeation abroad. This series combines the cases of About twenty se-hate decisions.

"Very respectfully, your obedient servent,
"JOHN McLEAN."

Extract from a letter of the State Reporter of Vermont.

"DEAR SIR: Allow me to say that I am highly pleased, both wit the arrangement and execution of the 'English Law and Equity Reports,' and find the work to be of very great value.

"I am, with much respect, your most obed in tservant.

"Messra Little & Brown: I have been somewhat acquainted with the character of the English Law and Equity Reports by the Juriat and Law Journal, for many years, but more so for the last year through your republication. I have no doubt they will supply everything which the profession generally will desire, from all the English Reports and in a form and at an expense altogether unobjectionable. They are furnished so much earlier than any other series of English Reports in this country that your republication will be almost indispensable to every member of the profession who desires to keep pace with the history of English jurisprudence. The notes by the American editors are a valuable addition, and I am inclined to believe the work will prove to be the most desirable and least expensive of any series of English Reports republished in this country.

"Very truly youts," I SAAC P. REDFIELD."

"New York, May 17, 1852. "New York, May 111, 1000.

The English Law and Equity Reports, edited by Messrs. Bennett. Smith, are, I think, a great convenience and benefit to the prodon. Such examination as I have given these volumes concess me of the accuracy and diffgence of the editors, and the Reta appear to me the most convenient and compendious form in eith the English Reports are presented to us.

"WILLIAM KENT."

It is impossible to read these Reports without high admirati-ne learning of the English courts and bar, and an ardent desire is our country the bench filled, as it is in England, with it at eminent lawyers, without distinction of party, and with a sal which makes the office respected and respectable. We aga amend the work to every practising lawyer as the cheapest at edition of the English Reports."—Western Law Journal. "The plan and execution of this series of Reports are too w "The plan and execution of this series of Reports are too we known, and have been too frequently commended in our pages, to require (arther comment now. We are glas to bear that their circulation is becoming more and more extended, and their great merit more widely appreciated. We entirely concur with the opinion a pressed by Judge Fletcher, of our Supreme Court, that Messrs. Bennett and Smith, in editing these Reports, were doing a great service to the profession." — Law Reporter.

WEBSTER'S WORKS .- Sixth Edition HE SPEECHES, FORENSIC ARGUMENTS, AND DIPLO-MATIC PAPERS OF DANIEL WEBSTER; WITH A NO-TICE OF HIS LIFE AND WORKS. BY EDWARD EVERETT. In 6 vols. 8vo. clots. Price $12.

In 6 vois. Evo. cloth. Price 312.
If speaks favorably, we think, for the intelligence and sound na. I tomai feeling of the prople of this country, that Mesers. Little, Brown, 5. Cos have been called upon to issue the saxth edition of Mr. Webster's works. We have been struck by the justice of the opinione expressed by a distinguished clergyman of Philadelphia, in a discourse on the character of Mr. Webster, that "the best thing we can do for training our young men is to place in their hands the works of this great stateman; is and also of his remark upon the inducence of that recommendation, 'I feel that I have rendered every family a useful service, which may have been induced, through my recommendation, to give it a place among their household books.' From a general conviction of the truth here expressed, in addition to the listicest which every intelligent reader who once enter supon the "Meerrs, Letter, Brows, & Co.—Gertener: I have been informed that frequent inquiries are made of you as to the completeners of your edition of Mr. Webster's works.

"The present volumes, edited by Mr. Everett, and published by you, contain everything, up to March, 1852, which was intended to be included in bis entire published works.

"It is probable that one or two volumes of correspondence may hereafter be collected and published in the same style with your six volumes. This caunot be considered as definitively decided upon; but it is certain that no publication will be made which will render four edition incomplete, or in any way diminish its value.

"Yours, very respectfully. Yours, very respectfully, "FLETCHER WEBSTER."

"We have already expressed very decidedly the opinion that the Boston Webster Memorial, also published by Messrs. Little, Brown, & Co., is the most satisfactory and interesting of all the books which his death has called from the press. The subjects presented are well selected, and treated with excellent tasts and feeling, and it contains the most valuable of the tributes to the memory of the decreased statesman."—Boston Daily Adsertizer.

"These volumes are a collection of imperietable models in constitutional law, jurisprudence, international law, diplomacy, finance, legislation, and literature—a collection not to be matched by this, and hardly by any other country, in capital and multiform excellence. There is not a page in these books which may not give the world assurance of a transcendant intellect; not a page which will not make posterity prouder of the land of their fathers. These productions will be perpetuated as long as the English language endures."

[New Fork Courier and Enguire."

"Distinguished men have monuments erected for them by their grateful countrymen, and sometimes by the people of another nation, or by a remote posterity. Daniel Webster has taken care to build his own, and in his lifetime. The six ample volumes of his works just published by Messra. Little & Brown, of Boston, will constitute a more precious and durable memorial of his existence and his greaters than the grante column, the markle or brazen bust.

"We shall not attempt to mention, nor even him at, the deservings of Mr. Webster, still less to compare him with other men. There is estitute a more precious and durable memorial of his existence and his creatness than the grante column, the mache or tenzen baset.

"We shall not attempt to mention, nor even hint at, the deservings of $1. Webster, still less to compare him with other men. There is a shorter course, which is to invite the community to weigh and value them for themselves. There are his works, such of them as have been collected. There they stand. They shall speak for him. They want only to have readers to create admirent."

DY Letters 2 steat secured in 1849.—Fulvermacher's patent by dro-sheetric valuac chains, constructed to be worn under the garments, are the most wonderful discovery in medicins and electricity of the present day. They relieve without pain or shock instantaneously acute nerrous pains, such as head, ear, and toother ache, rheumatic pains, ite dolorsus, &c. and by their midd but continuous and perceptible action on the body, diseases of years' standing—such as gout, boat paralysis, nervous complyints, liver diseases, &c.—slishpear as if by a miracle. They have been applied with the greatest success in all thors dreading diseases in children commonly called convulsions, as also in cases of teething, under difficulties and disorders of the bowers. They precipitate metals from their solutions, decompose water, deflect the magnetic needle; in short, show all the phenomena of a powerful valuale pile. The instruments producing these effects weigh about two cancers, can be folded up in a pocket book, are always ready for instantaneous uses, and will last as his lifettime, guarding humself, family, and friends, &c., against instaumber of diseases and complaints in which mild, streaming electricity is a perfectly said, certain, and wonderfully speed y reneally.

The price of a complete chain is from $1 to $0; beautive, $28 to.

Incredible as may seem the above facts, any person can easily convince simuself beforehand, at the depot, of their truth. The importance of the invention has been acknowledged in America by the Academy of Medicine or New York, and the chains have been applied with great success in the medical colleges, the city, Bellevue, and Ward's Island hospitals, Brooklyn City Hospital, &c. in Europe by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London; by the Academie Nationale de Medecin at Paris; by the Imperial faculty at Venna; ty the royal faculty at Berlin, and other scientific institutions of inchighest order, including the principal hospitals in Europe.

2d. Their beauty and durability.—Zinc on inside work, becomes lead.

2d. Their beauty and durability.—Zinc, on inside work, becomes much harder than any other paint, and is not eastly solied; is white than pure white lead; and as it rotains its whiteness and brilliancy unaffected by high water, coal or suiphurous gases, it is unrivalled as a paint for ships and strennboars. For outside use, exposed to weather or water, zinc paints will retain their color and preserving qualities long after other paints are destroyed.

2d. The white zinc paints will cover (equal weights) about two-thirds more surface than pure lead—this, in connexion with their greater durability, makes, to the long run, the cost of painting with zinc less than half the cost with lead. Brown and brown sone color sinc paints, which are sold at low prices, are well adapted for painting roofs, out-buildings, and all meritailic surfaces, particularly iron, which they effectually protect from rusting, exposed either to hear of weather.

These paints are prepared in the same manner, and may be used in all respects like white lend. They are fee sale by many of the principal dealers in the clies and large towns of the Union, and by the company's agents,

These who have become conversent with Mr. Richard's mode of treating this class of infortunate children will testify that very much have been done in running these under his care from a condition of imbecility and solid didecy to one of comparative intelligence and reaches to the body of the comparative intelligence and reaches of human effort.

In Europe Mr. R. became familiar with similar institutions, which have been the means, by a course of early training, of rescuing many from a state of hopeless idiocy. Since then he has had an experience of more than four years in teaching this class of our unfurtunates.
